Copeland Oaks Residents Get Creative

There was a line out the door for the Creativity Center Open House in January!

Our artistic residents showcased all of the amazing things that can be created at Copeland. There are so many opportunities to get creative regardless of your experience level. From cross stitch and calligraphy to watercolor painting and wood carving – we love when our residents can come together to show off their creative side!

If a person has become a danger to themselves or others due to their memory impairment, it is especially important to consider memory care. Deciding what type of facility is best for your loved one may seem like a daunting task – but you don't have to figure it out alone. Check out the blog below to find important considerations, types of memory care, and more!
